Lake levels tops new Warden's list

Finding a solution to the ongoing problem of fluctuating lake levels in Haliburton County was at the top of new County Warden Bob McCausland's list of issues to be addressed in 1988 after he was sworn in at council's inaugural meeting last Tuesday.

The Glamorgan Township Reeve was acclaimed to the county's highest political office, replacing Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey. McCausland was nominated by Councillor Keith Tallman and seconded by Bob Vick after serving seven consecutive years on County Council.

There should be some intensive study undertaken to find a solution to the problem with lake levels, McCausland said after accepting the Warden's robe and chain of office

Kanawa fate still unsettled

The fate of the Kanawa Canoe collection is still unsettled after Haliburton County Council was asked to hold back on any debate over whether the county should help fund a location study.

The $50,000 study to determine if Haliburton Village is a viable site for the collection of canoes from around the world would require 25 per cent local funding. It was expected that the county would discuss the funding question Wednesday, but Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey said he had been asked to delay debate until more information is made available.

The world-class collection has been housed at a location next to Camp Kandalore in Stanhope Township, and over the past few years a number of locations for setting up a permanent display have been explored. For various reasons, all options except Haliburton Village have been rejected.

Council wants accounts paid

Soon after deciding it can not afford to pay $12,000 for a new truck, Lutterworth Township Council discovered that there are still $12,000 worth of rezoning accounts that have not yet been collected.

At Wednesday's meeting, council was told that only $2,000 worth of overdue rezoning accounts have been paid since notices were sent out two months ago. Those still owing can expect to receive a registered letter in the near future asking them to pay their bills within 30 days. If there are still outstanding accounts at that time, the municipality is prepared to take legal action to collect.

The irony of the situation was apparent at Wednesday's meeting when tenders for the purchase of a new truck for the bylaw enforcement officer was opened. The budget allows for $11,000 which is not enough to buy any of the trucks that council received quotes on.

In hopes of getting a better price on a truck, Ernie Roylance, Bylaw Enforcement Officer, will be contacting the four dealers that submitted quotes to see if they are able to provide a truck at a price that would fall within council's budget.

The outstanding rezoning accounts were created by what council has admitted was a sloppy collection procedure., The municipality has paid the costs incurred by the township planner for work done to process a rezoning application but has not collected from the applicants.

In a bid to prevent this from happening in the future, council will only give two readings to rezoning bylaws before bills are paid. The third and final reading will be done once the account is settled.

Panhandling not allowed

In an effort to curtail panhandling in downtown Minden, police have charged an area man with causing a disturbance by blocking pedestrians and asking for money.

Charged is David Brodie, 34, of no fixed address, who is reported to have stopped people in the street asking for handouts.

Brodie has also been charged with breach of probation, police report. OPP Constable Dave Mac-Martin investigated the incident.

Santa's waiting for letters

Santa Claus is anxiously awaiting the arrival of his copy of this week's edition of The Times so he can complete his list of presents before making the annual flight here on Christmas Eve.

Students from the area schools have prepared their Christmas wish lists, which appear in the second section of this week's paper.

We contacted Santa by telephone last week and he was happy to report that all the kids in Haliburton have been good this year and will be getting a present.

Merry Christmas

Dashing through the snow

Kids! and adults too. Enjoy the fun of a horse-drawn sleigh ride every Saturday in downtown Minden. Jump aboard the hay covered wagon and tour the village streets as the jingle of sleigh bells brings back visions of old time Christmas traditions.

Look for the team and wagon each Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. The rides are free.

One Little Candle

For years, the simple candle has served as a symbol for mankind. The single candle has been a beacon of hope, celebration and love. Particularly at this time of the year, the bright flame of the candle cuts through the darkness of the long winter nights creating a warm and inviting haven for all who share its glow.

Minden and area residents are invited to be a part of this Christmas tradition by placing a candle in their windows. Through a special purchase, single electric candles are available at downtown Minden stores. It is hoped that residents throughout the area will purchase one of these candles and display it prominently in a window during Christmas in the Village.

'TIS THE SEASON

County doubles its wolf bounty

To prevent outside trappers from cashing in on an attractive wolf bounty in Haliburton County, the municipalities will have to adhere more strictly to the established guidelines.

In order to nip the increasing wolf population in Haliburton, County Council plans to double its wolf bounty from $25 to $50. However, at last Wednesday's meeting councillor Don Shortreed noted that wolves that were trapped outside of the county might be brought here to collect on the more attractive bounty.

In order to avoid this potential problem, councillor Bob Vick suggested that trappers should have to bring the wolves to their own municipality's bounty officer to collect the bounty.

After some discussion on this, it was discovered that the county already has a bylaw in place that requires each municipality to appoint a bounty officer, who can only deal with wolves within his municipality. However, this bylaw is not strictly followed and some municipalities have yet to appoint a bounty officer.

Council instructed clerk Gary McKnight to update the 1978 bylaw, including the provision for the increased bounty for consideration at the January meeting.

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce has initiated a system of rotating their regular meetings at municipal offices around the county. The first such meeting was held in the Lutterworth Council Chambers last week. In attendance were (front row) Chamber President John Mateer, Chamber Manager Shirley Rapson, Brian Watts, Marj Kennedy, (back row) Ron Berry, Hadden Gillespie, Dante Larcade, Carol Puffer, Elgin Stouffer, Chamber staff member Cindy Rodley, Ray Moore and vice president Al Mayo.

Paving best alternative to road oil spray

Paving may be the only viable solution to dust control now that road oil is no longer available, Haliburton County Council was told at its meeting last Wednesday.

The Ministry of Transportation is reviewing the environmental concerns associated with road oil. And in anticipation of the outcome of this review, Canam, the only supplier of road oil in this part of the province, recently decided to withdraw its services.

Asked to comment on the dust control problem that will result without the use of road oils, County Engineer Bill Obee said a lot of municipalities are

New heart for Don Mintz

After a wait in the hospital of almost five months, Don Mintz of Minden has received a new heart. The transplant team at Toronto Western Hospital completed the four and a half hour operation in the early hours of December 16.

"Don is doing reasonably well," Don's wife Pat, commented Saturday from her home. "It just seems like a miracle that this has happened." She said the transplant was the nicest Christmas present the family could receive.

Pat explained that hospital officials had difficulty matching Don's blood type, which resulted in the unusually lengthy wait for a suitable donor organ. During the five months that he was a patient at the hospital, seven other transplant operations were completed. Last week, however, a heart, with matching blood type, size and tissue was made available through the organ retrieval network, and the team of doctors completed the operation.

It was a little more than a year ago that another county resident, Bob McCausland of Gooderham, received a heart transplant. Subsequently, McCausland underwent a second transplant operation before being released from hospital. Shortly before the medical team at Toronto Western began the delicate operation on Don Mintz Tuesday night, Bob McCausland was elected Warden of Haliburton County for the coming year.

County shouldn't pay

With the issue of finding a Haliburton Village location for the Kanawa Canoe Collection again gaining attention, there is one question that begs to be asked: "Why should the County be entertaining the idea of funding a project that is so obviously a single-municipality issue?

It is expected that in the coming months County Council will be asked to pay $12,500, to help sponsor a location study to find the ideal setting for the permanent museum in the Village of Haliburton. It is not expected that this study will look outside the village for optional sites, so we ask again - why should it be a county project?

It might be argued that all the municipalities in the county will benefit if the collection is housed in Haliburton, but we really don't buy that.

Despite the stature of this outstanding collection, it is doubtful that great numbers of people will travel to this area just to see the museum alone. It will undoubtedly be an added attraction for those who come to the county for other reasons, and will therefore increase the number of people visiting Haliburton Village.

However, in terms of benefits to the other nine municipalities in the county, it is folly to believe they will see any measurable gains from this project.

We would very much like to see this ongoing matter finally resolved with the collection getting a permanent home in Haliburton, but the cost of bringing it here should rest with the municipality that stands to gain.

If Haliburton Village really wants the collection, the Townships of Dyasart et al should foot the bills.

USC asks for continued donations

Editor:

No one will deny that charity begins at home. The great challenge to our generosity as Canadians is to address the fears and insecurity of those whom we do not personally know and who have no social services to buffer them against hunger, illness and unemployment. In developing countries, such as Mali, Mozambique, Bangladesh and Nepal, thousands of people earn less than a dollar a day, and live constantly on the edge of disaster. USC Canada has been heartened by donations from old and new friends across Canada, but postal disruptions cut into our Fall fund raising and we are still short of our campaign target of $3.2-million. Every dollar counts a lot and is urgently needed. Kindly send your donation to USC Canada, 56 Sparks Street, Ottawa, Ontario K1P 5B1.

Chief Executive Officer.

Community's youth ignored

Editor:

While reading last week's issue (December 14, 1987) of your paper I noticed that over half of page 11 was devoted to an indepth report on that week's men's hockey league. It seems a shame that your reporters spend so much time making sure that grown men get their names and often pictures in the paper in what seems to be a growing column, when nothing is ever mentioned about minor hockey players or teams.

For many years your paper has chosen to ignore the youth of our community by not covering minor hockey, unless we had a team in the Ontario finals. Otherwise if coaches or managers wanted games reported they had to submit their own articles.

I feel that since we now have about 100 boys between the ages of 3 and 15 registered in Minden Minor Hockey, more people would probably want to read about a six year old scoring a goal than some has-been from a men's recreational league leading his team to victory.

It has not been a secret that since our arena was opened in 1974 Minor Hockey home games have been held on Saturdays for all age groups. I have been present on a good number of these Saturdays and have very, very rarely seen yourself or any of your staff there to cover these games.

If your paper's sponsorship of one of the men's league teams is the reason for your excellent coverage I feel sure that the Minden Minor Hockey Association would gladly wear a set of "Times" sweaters for that kind of press.

Please don't ignore our young players any longer, they too take pride in seeing their names in print.

Larry Kent,

No more flat tires

by Arthur Black

Keep both hands on the steering wheel there, Maude, I'm going to tell you about the latest automotive breakthrough and I wouldn't want you to lose control and smack into a lamppost. It's from the folks at Uniroyal - they're bringing out a revolutionary new concept in automobile tires - a tire that absolutely cannot possibly go flat.

Which is not all that hard, because the new tire from Uniroyal has no air in it. Yessiree, they're calling it the "airless spare". It's made of polyurethane bonded to a stamped steel wheel disc. It weighs 20 percent less than a conventional compact spare and will take up 35 to 40 percent less space in your trunk.

You realize what this means, don't you? Pretty soon new cars will be packing an even smaller spare tire than that ridiculous donut they come with nowadays.

Is there any room at the Inn?

by Rev. Edward Moll

"...and she gave birth to her firstborn, a son. She wrapped him in swaddling clothes and placed him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn." St. Luke 2.7

"The Innkeeper"

Like all the other shadows on that strange, wild night, the innkeeper never really shows up in the Christmas story. All that Luke writes is "there was no room for them at the inn." And preachers down the centuries have raked that hapless individual over the coals for his (or her) alleged hard-heartedness. The sermon would end with some invitation, "Do you have room in your heart for Jesus?"

And of course the good church people nod yes. The final hymn would be sung - "O come to my heart Lord Jesus, there is room in my heart for thee." We would walk or ride home satisfied that we would never be like that nasty innkeeper who didn't even let the baby Jesus in the inn but put the family outside in a smelly stable.

It's tough to run a business. There are a million things to worry about, and each thing to worry about becomes something to do. The people who run the stores, the hotels, and motels know how difficult it is to keep their heads above water. They also know what a zoo the place turns into when the Dog Sled Derby comes to town, or the Ride for Sight, or any other event that is sure to draw a crowd. If there is no room, well there is no room. You make do with the best that you have at the time. You hope that there will not be too many complaints if the waitresses are a bit slow on the orders, or if there are lineups at the counter because two of your staff booked off sick this morning.

The work doesn't end when the doors close. There are always the books, the inventory, the orders, the cleanup, counting the cash, locking up, and then home. You have the feeling that while you are reasonably independent and your own boss, you have to bury yourself alive first. In the flurry of activity would you have noticed a very pregnant couple sitting in a booth, ordering a coffee and a muffin apiece, not looking as if they could even afford the day's special?

It seems that any story has to have a villian, and perhaps the Christmas story is no exception. However, if the innkeeper is the villian, he is the one of whom we speak with a catch in the throat, with the heart that skips a beat as it wonders, "Is is I?" The shepherds may have left their work in the middle of the night, but the innkeeper could not. He or she had to keep the store running, who had a million things to worry about, who had to get wood for the fire, extra blankets for the guests, while at the same time wonder where to put this poor couple. God knows, you couldn't call the innkeeper inhospitable. A place was found. It may not have been the Ritz-Carlton, but it was warm, and private.

However, in his busyness, in his forest where each tree is something else to do, this poor innkeeper was not there when his own true Love was born. Wrapped up in himself like swaddling clothes, the innkeeper became a prisoner of his own activity.

And yet ... The True Love of the World was born for innkeepers, too. Maybe those preachers were asking the wrong question at the end of those sermons. Instead of "Do you have room in your heart for Jesus?" they could ask,

"Did you know that God has room in God's heart for you?"

Merry Christmas to you and yours.

The compact tires — 'dumber and smaller'

Have you had the pleasure yet of driving on one of those "conventional compact tires" as they are so euphemistically called? It's quite a treat. Happened to me for the first time last spring. I was piloting a rent-a-car along the 401 when I heard the all-too-familiar THWUP THWUP THWUP that tells you another steel belted radial is on its way to the Goodyear Permanent Parking Lot In The Sky. Great. Flat tire. I got out and opened the trunk only to face what looked like a wheelbarrow tire lying in the bottom. "What's that?" I asked my more wordly passenger. She explained that it was the latest thing, a compact spare tire that, with a little luck and careful driving, should get me to the next gas station.

It did, but just barely. And I had a new experience to add to my lifetime Thrill List: Creeping along the 401 on a compact tire at 30 miles an hour while supersonic transport trucks honked and blared and swooshed by me, just inches from my side mirror.

And now it looks like we're going from the compact tire - a dumb, small idea in its own right - to the 'airless" compact tire - an idea that's even dumber and smaller.

Ah well, let's face it. The whole concept of automobiles has been going downhill ever since they were called horseless carriages. I don't mean to come on like Methuselah, but I can remember when cars were cars, built with real steel and actual rubber - not a particle of polypropylene or a morsel of computerized mumbo-jumbo from bumper to bumper. Those cars had cloth covered seats and leather covered dashboards and doors that closed with a rich, satisfying KA-RUMP! when you shut them. Those cars had fenders that could actually take a whack or two, without turning into accordion pleats the way modern ones do.

What are modern fenders made of, anyway - Reynolds Wrap?

The irony is, the cars I remember with such affection were dismissed by my father as just so much mobile tinware. I remember coming up the driveway in my first sports car, feeling fairly show-offish skidding to a stop at my Old Man's feet.

"Whaddya think?" I asked as I popped open the door. He tapped the front fender with his knuckles. The fender gave back a weak and effeminate PING.

"Try not to run into anything," he said.

Then he regaled me with tales of the cars of his youth - "Back when they really knew how to build a car" - especially the original Generic Car, the Tin Lizzie, a.k.a. the Model T, which was built on Mister Henry Ford's brand newfangled industrial invention: the Assembly Line. My Dad owned a Model T and he must have loved it because he was still talking about it half a century later. He told me that once during the war, supplies of rationed gasoline dried up completely. He couldn't find any anywhere. "No problem though, we just filled the tank with kerosene."

"Didn't that blow the engine out?" I asked.

"Naw" he said, "you couldn't hurt a Model T."

Ah, they must have really been something, those early cars. Vanished classics with names like Pierce Arrow, Stutz Bearcat, Stanley Steamer and Phaeton. Some of them with rudders instead of steering wheels, with hand throttles and brakes on levers that you had to reach out on the running board to operate...

...and, come to think of it, some of them with one other feature I just remembered my Old Man telling me about.

Solid rubber tires.

Just like the brand new ones from Uniroyal.

Chamber deserves county support from clerk Gary McKnight. Drought conditions that prevailed throughout the summer, causing most Haliburton lakes to drop to record low levels have brought this problem again to the forefront. McCausland says a solution must be found to protect the local tourism industry.

With tourism being the most important industry in the county, the warden also promised continued support for the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce. He said the chamber deserves the county's financial and moral support for its efforts to promote Haliburton. The chamber has demonstrated its ability to promote the Highlands over the past year and should receive continued support from the county, he said.

Glamorgan Township Reeve Bob McCausland was acclaimed to the post of County Warden at the inaugural meeting of County Council last Tuesday evening.

McCausland, who has served on the Glamorgan Township Council since 1976, also stressed a restructuring of education taxes, progress with County Social Services, and establishing a provincial court in the county as priorities to be addressed in the final year of this council's three-year term.

Commenting on the growing concern of cottagers who feel they should be exempt from paying education taxes on their cottage properties, the new warden said, "We must work with FOCA (Federation of Ontario Cottagers' Associations) and other associations to reduce education taxes in Haliburton." He emphasized that relieving cottagers from paying the bulk of the county's education taxes must be done without reducing the quality of education in the county.

Social Services, which was taken under the County umbrella one year ago, has proven to be a success, said McCausland. However, noting that nothing is perfect, he said the county must continue to lend its support to the service to ensure its progress.

"Although it is only a year old as a county service, it must be given every opportunity to justify itself to everyone, which I believe it has for one year's operation."

Repeating one of the issues set out by last year's Warden Murray Fearrey, McCausland called for the establishment of a Provincial Court system in Haliburton. This is one of the few priorities addressed in Fearrey's speech that has not yet been accomplished,

"I feel we must undertake to convince Queen's Park that we must have a Provincial Court system in our county, not in Victoria County," said McCausland, Tuesday.

In other matters, the warden said Hyland Crest is faced with a new obstacle in finding a new administrator now that Karl Samuelson has tendered his resignation. "It's back to square one," he said.

McCausland also mentioned the hospital expansion fund-raising drive in his address. The county has to ensure that the goal will be met, he said, expressing confidence that it will be. Finally, he said the County road system, although very adequate, must be looked at and restructured, possibly by including more roads in the system.

In closing, McCausland asked for co-operation in maintaining a united council throughout 1988. With seven past wardens on council, and an experienced staff, McCausland said, "I feel that County Council and its staff will make Haliburton County a better place to be a part of in 1988."

Odds are good in lake-front raffle

With the deadline for ticket sales fast approaching, the Minden and Haliburton Lions Clubs have a lot of ground to cover if they are to sell all the tickets on the raffle for a lake-front lot on Kennisis Lake.

The Minden club has sold half of their 1,000 tickets for this raffle, which is to raise funds for the Haliburton Hospital exapnsion project. The deadline is the end of December and tickets are available from all Lions Club members for $25.

The relatively slow sales is bad news for the fund-raising effort, but it is good news for ticket holders., If all the tickets are not sold by the December 31 deadline, ticket holders have a better chance of winning the beautiful piece of lake-front property.

Landfill 'the issue', committee expanded

Landfill will be "the issue in Haliburton County" in 1988, says County Council's Steering Chairman Murray Fearrey. For this reason, the Environmental Management Committee has been increased from three members to five members.

Council's committees for 1988 were struck at last Wednesday's meeting, the final meeting of the year. And except for the Environment Committee, there is little change in the committee structure.

With many of the county's landfill sites nearing their capacities, council plans to give the issue of waste management much attention in the coming year. And because much of this work load will be placed on the Environment Committee, two additional members were appointed.

Another change in the committee structure sees Social Services and Personnel combined with the Management Committee. This amalgamation was suggested because the Social Services Committee did not hold regular meetings. Under the new structure, concerns involving Social Services will be addressed at the regular meetings of the Management Committee.

Membership on county committees is as follows:

Management

Sinc Nesbitt, Murray Fearrey, Keith Tallman, Harry Davis, Bob Vick and Bill Valentine.

Finance and correspondence

Don Shortreed, Elvin Johnson and Mack Peters.

Roads and property

Murray Fearrey, Sinc Nesbitt, William Howe, Harry Davis and Dalton MacDonald.

Hyland Crest

Bob Vick, Sid Cooper, Keith Tallman, Bern Berry and Mack Peters.

Library board

Jane Franklin, Mack Peters and Elvin Johnson. This board will also have non council appointments.

Environment

Don Shortreed, William Howe, Murray Fearrey, Harry Davis and Bill Valentine.

Carol Puffer will chair the Chamber of Commerce Committee as well as the Sir Sandford Liaison Committee.

Bern Berry will chair the Children's Aid Society, while Keith Tallman chairs the Health Committee.

Dust control

telling their residents they will "have to get used to eating dust." There are other dust control products available and some new ones being developed, but they are very costly.

In the long run, said Obee, the solution is to pave the gravel roads. He said this will have a high initial expense, but it may have to be done.

The ministry is currently preparing a "special provision" outlining requirements of road oil use and certification. However, this may be of little use since Canam has withdrawn its services.

Times own men's league lead

For the first time this season there is a clear leader in the men's recreational league as The Times took lone control of first place after last Monday night's play at the Minden arena.

Floyd Hall Insurance and The Times had been sharing the lead until Monday, when Hartwick Construction dealt Halls their first real loss of the season. The Times beat Vasey Insurance to skate into first place. And the Rockcliffe finally broke out of their slump by beating Home Hardware.

Times 7, Vasey 4

The well-balanced Times squad outdistanced Vasey in the first game of the night boosting its record to seven wins and one loss. Vasey, on the other hand, is still in the basement with one win and seven losses.

Just about every player on The Times squad is capable of putting the puck in the net, and this well-rounded scoring earned them the 7 - 4 win over Vasey on Monday.

Rodger Schandlen and Dave Dollo led the scoring for The Times with two apiece. Singles were notched by Jeff Howe, Ken Barry and Andy Campbell.

Daryl Ward scored twice for Vasey while Jerry Campbell and Norm Barry each added one.

Hartwick 8, Halls 7

Hartwick pulled off a tremendous come back in the final minutes of the game to upset Halls 8 - 7 and increase their winning streak to five games.

Trailing 7 - 4 with about five minutes left in the third period, Hartwick put its top players on the ice to score the four goals needed for the win.

Probably one of the most challenging games of the season, Halls outpaced its opponent through the first two periods. However, the team could not withstand the pressure applied by the Hartwick power play line in the dying minutes.

Dave Hartwick and Brian Shaw again led the scoring for Hartwick with three goals each. Murray Beetlestone notched one, and Jim Keetch fired the winning goal.

Barry Boice notched a hat-trick for Halls while Kim Collis scored twice and Rick Lowes and John Barkwell each added one.

Halls' loss drops them back into second place in the league standings, a game behind The Times and a game ahead of Hartwick.

Rockcliffe 10, Home 7

Despite a strong performance from the Home Hardware squad, the Rockcliffe finally earned its fourth win of the season and ended a four-game losing streak.

Like The Times, the Rockcliffe had help from all positions to earn this win. Al Cunningham led the way with three goals while Barry Shaw, Jim Winn and Barry Walker each scored twice. Lawrence Lougheed added one in the final frame for the Rockcliffe.

Scott Hamilton did most of the scoring for Home, putting the puck past Rockcliffe goalie Doug Pearson five times. Gary Nelson and Dave Pettis each scored one for Halls.

Heading into the 10th week of the schedule tonight, Halls and Vasey play at 7 p.m., Hartwick and the Rockcliffe take to the ice at 8:30 p.m. and Home will try to upset The Times at 10 p.m.

The Rockcliffe Hustlers finally broke out of their mid-season slump last Monday night as they took on Home Hardware and came away with a 10-7 win. In an earlier game, The Times downed Vasey to gain lone control of first place in the Minden Recreational Hockey League.

Kids pick provincial bird

Ontario has an official flower, an official tree and an official mineral, but there is one emblem we lack, which most other provinces have. That's an official bird.

"I am asking youngsters aged nine to 11 to help fill that gap by participating in a contest to choose an official bird for Ontario," Natural Resources Minister Vincent Kerrio said.

"Birds are a significant part of Ontario's natural heritage. They play an important role environmentally, and provide hours of enjoyment to people like myself, who like to watch them," he said.

All types of birds, such as waterfowl, songbirds, game birds and birds of prey should be considered for the emblem.

The contest is part of the province's Wildlife '87 activities marking the 100th anniversary of the founding of Canada's first wildlife sanctuary at Last Mountain Lake in Saskatchewan.

Youngsters should consider the following guidelines when preparing their entries:

The bird must be native to Ontario (not an introduced species such as the English sparrow or the starling), fairly well known and found throughout most of Ontario.

Youngsters should avoid choosing endangered species.

Birds that have already been chosen as the emblem of another province, such as the blue jay, which is the official bird of Prince Edward Island, should also be avoided.

Other birds which already represent a province or territory are: Steller's jay (British Columbia); great horned owl (Alberta); prairie sharp-tailed grouse (Saskatchewan); great gray owl (Manitoba); horned lark (Quebec); black-capped chickadee (New Brunswick); belted kingfisher (Nova Scotia); Atlantic puffin (New-

Gil Scott's artistic efforts add colour to curling club

If you want something done, don't wait for someone else to do it. This is the line of thought that has brought new colour and atmosphere to the Minden Curling Club this season.

During his first two years as a member of the curling club, Gil Scott wondered why nothing was ever done to spruce up the bare walls around the ice surface. But instead of sitting back and complaining, he decided to see if he could go ahead and do something about it. The 14 hand painted crests of the provinces, territories, the country and the county which now brighten the walls are the result of his effort.

Scott, who retired to this area three years ago, said Minden has a great curling club, but he didn't think enough was being done to decorate the building.

With the bare steel walls, it was like curling in a huge garage, said Scott, who has curled for more than 30 years. And after visiting some of the other clubs in the area, and seeing how they were decorated, he decided that Minden could do as well or better.

Just over a year ago, he approached club president Jerry McKelvey with his idea of painting the crests. He said McKelvey liked the idea and asked him to go ahead and do one to see what they would look like.

Scott started painting, and within two weeks he had completed the Ontario coat of arms, painted on a four-by-five-foot sheet of plywood. Once the club executive saw the quality of the work, they agreed to pay for all the materials for him to do the remaining 13 crests.

Because he wanted to have the crests ready in time to be hung before this year's season began, Scott said he spent an average of about two and a half hours a day between January and July working on the highly-detailed crests.

He says his wife, Mary, deserves a lot of credit for her patience and support while he spent so much time working on the crests. He said he also had great support from the staff at Archie Stouffer Elementary School where he worked on the outlines of the crests. McKelvey and current club president Dwight Thomas should take some of the credit for their support in this project as well, said Scott.

The idea to paint the coats of arms comes from Scott's belief that Canadians should show more pride in their country. Canada is a great country, he says, and using a Canadian motif for the murals is a way of expressing pride in this.

Scott, who was a teacher - librarian in Scarborough until his retirement, said he had painted some small replicas of the provincial crests in the past for his own pleasure. He enjoys painting and wood carving as a hobby, but said he had never done anything as large as the murals at the clurling club before.

Now that all the murals are in place on the walls at the club, it is hard to imagine what the club used to look like. There is still one section of the walls still vacant, though, and that is where the plaque which credits Scott for the work will be hung. This plaque is now being finished by Don Burch will soon be decorate the last remaining bare wall.

The provincial crests painted by Gil Scott add to the atmosphere of the Minden Curling Club during a bonspiel earlier this year. Scott spent the better part of a year working on these highly-detailed crests and they were in place at the start of this curling season.

Grants help clean local environment

by John Eakins, M.P.P.

Concern for our environment is an issue which has been growing as governments and interested groups work to clean up our lakes and rivers and protect them from future environmental harm.

Recently, my colleague, Jim Bradley, the Minister of the Environment announced a number of grants to assist municipalities in Victoria - Haliburton.

In the Coboconk area, financial assistance is being made available to upgrade individual sewage disposal systems. The bordering townships of Bexley and Somerville will each receive a total grant of $21,250. The first payments of $17,651 will be used to undertake an engineering study for the repair or upgrading of sewage disposal systems in the village of Coboconk.

These two grants will provide funds to undertake work in the short term to repair existing problems. However, long-range planning is also important as we work to preserve our delicate environment. With this in mind, I am pleased that Mr. Bradley will also be providing funds to the County of Victoria to undertake long-range planning.

The Ministry of the Environment will provide a maximum of a 50 per cent grant toward the preparation of a Waste Management Master Plan for the County. As my colleague has noted, the members of county council should be congratulated for their willingness to work with the provincial ministry to address the issue of waste management.

The Master Plan Program addresses:

- municipal concerns regarding Provincial funding assistance to undertake waste management planning and the costs and time frame associated with the environmental assessment process.
- public concerns of waste management issues through an intensive public participation program which seeks active involvement by the public in the planning process before decisions are made.

This commitment by the elected officials of each of the participating municipalities shows the forward thinking of their councils in dealing with the issues of waste management.

In closing I am pleased to announce that the Township of Monmouth has completed a Comprehensive Zoning By-Law and will be receiving the final installment on a total grant of $6,670 to assist the municipality in its efforts to ensure successful planning.

Child care is crucial to children

by Bill Scott, M.P.

Child care is a priority issue for Canadians. Prime Minister Brian Mulroney promised Canadians a comprehensive child-care system, recognizing the important role that women play in the economy of their families and of Canada as a whole. Above all, it is crucial to the well-being of Canadian children.

This government established a special Parliamentary Committee under the leadership of Shirley Martin, MP, to examine the issue and provide the government with an indication of the needs of Canadian families who seek and use child care. The Martin Report provided important input in the federal-provincial discussions on a national child care program.

Health and Welfare Minister Jake Epp announced that the federal government will spend $5.4-billion over the next seven years on a National Strategy on Child Care. The strategy is a three-part initiative that will fund the creation of 200,000 new child care spaces in Canada, provide tax assistance to families with young children, and set up a special fund to finance research and development of child care.

New tax assistance:

- An increased tax deduction up to $4,000 per child for families with receipted child-care expenses for children under six years or with special care needs;
- For low - and middle - income families, a phased-in $200 per year supplement to the Child Tax Credit for children six and under; and
- For children over six years, the tax deduction remains $2,000 per child. The current limit of $8,000 on allowable deductions per family will be removed.

Child Care Special Initiative Fund:

- A $100-million fund for research and public awareness programs to improve the quality of child-care services. Programs under the fund will address child-care problems related to shift work, part-time employment, native groups and children with special needs.

Canada Child Care Act:

- A new cost-sharing program with the provinces to create 200,000 new, quality child-care spaces.

Of all the suitable birds proposed, the one most often selected as a result of the children's research will be chosen Ontario's official bird. A winning entry will also be chosen based on the quality of the explanation in his or her entry. The winner will be required to show proof of age, such as a birth certificate, to ensure contest rules were met.

The winner will receive a piece of artwork and a copy of the newly-released Atlas of the Breeding Birds of Ontario.

Students from class 1A re-enact the Nativity.

A visit by Santa to the Stanhope Township Community Centre brought its rewards for this young girl as she carefully unwraps her present with some help from mom. As always, the annual Stanhope Township Christmas party brought smiles to the faces of dozens of area kids who joined in the Christmas carols and had a chance to whisper the wish list into Santa's ear.

Parents' choice must be reflected

- To provide cost-sharing for both non-profit and commercial child care.
- Enriched cost-sharing (75 per cent federal) for provincial capital expenditures on non-profit child care during the development period.

Parental choice is paramount and must be reflected in a policy which ensures that benefits are shared among a variety of family types. An effective partnership must exist between participants in the child-care system - parents and federal and provincial / territorial governments.

Despite the fact that the need for improved child care was identified over a decade ago, it is this government that, within three years of coming to power, introduced a comprehensive child care strategy.

As Christmas is fast approaching, I want to wish you and your loved ones a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Youngsters from the Treehouse Club from the Minden Gospel Church brought music of the season to the Minden Hospital Thursday evening. The youngsters and their leaders sang a medley of Christmas carols and songs. The group also presented the hospital with a colourful wall hanging and toy for the paediatric ward.

Minden W.I. report

Twenty members and three guests were present for the December 17th afternoon meeting of Minden Women's Institute at the United Church hall. The business went on as usual with report including Mrs. W. Moore's of having sent 19 cards since the November meeting.

Collections for the Card Fund and Pennies for Friendship were taken. Then all responded to Roll Call with Christmas verses and the Scripture and all joined in singing carols with Jean Cox at the piano.

Members had turned in articles for the Christmas Baskets and exchange gifts. These gifts were given out, also some received a gift from their Secret Pal.

The committee had set up a buffet and everyone enjoyed a cup of tea, the lunch and chat with other ladies.

Next meeting will be at the Library Cultural Centre January 20 at 2 with all ladies welcome. Our President, Mrs. Lacey, wished us all a Merry Christmas and a very Happy and Healthy New Year. As the coats were being put on some joined in singing "We Wish You A Merry Christmas" and this goes to everyone from Minden Women's Institute.

Well, it's been quite a hectic week: so many tests and assignments due to be handed in and those yet to be returned. Students certainly need a major break from the routine and the Christmas holidays might just do that (we hope).

A signal that the exams are imminent was issued in homeroom last Tuesday. It was kind of a depressing moment when the blue sheets filled throughout the school and students were forced to think about a possible study timetable. Exams commence January 21st.

On Tuesday, December 15, the student council had for purchase, 'candy-grams'. The idea is to buy a candy cane and enclose a message along with it to be sent either to a friend, acquaintance or the secretly admired to their homerooms. There certainly was quite a line-up.

Schools were dismissed early on Tuesday at one p.m. (somewhat unexpectedly to parents, guardians, students, and teachers alike). The storm increased in intensity through-out the morning. Even the morning bus ride was hazardous with gusty squalls and thunderous amounts of snow. Many wondered if school should have just been cancelled for the day and saved many people the chaos that ensued. It's odd when one considers the area the high school services and the bus lines of which find themselves trekking on more side-roads in the 'boonies' than the actual highways that disect the County.

The evening of Friday, December 11, was quite a shocking experience for many. The Christmas dance that was held was semi-formal, forcing those who live in jeans to shed their image for the night. It may have been quite a traumatic experience for some, but as yet we are not quite sure because the hospital reports on casualties are not forthcoming at the present time.

At the end of last week the grade 13's staged a Christmas assembly for the school and it was a fun and touching way to end the week.

As reported in last week's edition of The Times, our principal, Mr. Andrew Hamphill has declined to 'assume the post at the high school on a permanent basis'. We've appreciated Mr. Hemphill's presence and hope him success this final year at HHSS and wish him luck in the years to come.

We won't be writing during the hol's so we wish all students, teachers and fellow citizens a Merry and safe Christmas and remember the SADD committee's message: if you drink, don't drive.

Minden OPP briefs

During the week of December 7 to December 13, officers of the Minden OPP Detachment investigated 50 general occurrences. Weather played havoc on the roads as the traffic accident count totalled 17, with one minor injury.

Weapons charge

A 29-year-old Pine Lake area man has been charged with possession of a prohibited weapon, possession of stolen property and posession of a narcotic following a police investigation into unrelated complaints.

OPP Constable Ben Manuge was called to check out a complaint against 29-year-old Richard Brown of animal abuse. When he investigated this complaint, he found cause to lay the unrelated criminal charges.

Thefts

From Minden, a homemade box trailer, black; From Highway 35 south of Mountain Lake, cash and five gold chains; From Minden Auto Parts, a quantity of gas; From Haliburton, a vehicle with licence plates number NX3 - 223; From Davis Lake, alcohol, flashllight and a pellet pistol; From Buckhorn Road, alcohol, a propane tank and a light; and from Minden Chrysler, a Pioneer cassette deck with two speakers.

Christmas craft sales on

by Shirley Hodgson

Please remember to visit the Christmas Sale at the Rails' End Gallery and the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden. Many of the people who have visited this year, have expressed their pleasure with the lovely selection of hand-crafted gifts.

A special thank you to all the artists who have contributed their work and a very special thank you to the numerous people who have helped in so many ways to make this sale a success.

Have you ever made a Christmas wish? Well, the Guild and Gallery have made a few wishes and some of them have been filled already. They need -

1. China tea cups and saucers
2. Glass serving plates and platters
3. 1 glass punch bowl
4. Cutlery - especially teaspoons
5. 1 staple gun
6. 1 saw
7. 1 pair wire snips

All donations, whether small or large will be most welcome. They have even received some items that they did not wish for.

While I'm on the subject of "items" - before Christmas or after Christmas when you are cleaning house - sorting cupboards, drawers, etc. Perhaps you will come across some valuable items for a new fund-raising idea., Our president Ginnie Muenzel would like us to participate in the Legion's May Flea Market. So please save your re-usable articles and let the Gallery staff know what you would like to donate.

The organizers of the Haliburton County Fall Studio Tours are calling for artists who are interested in participating in the 1988 Fall Tour which is scheduled for October 1 and 2. If you would like more information please contact Marian Langdon - 457-2434 or Marion Hill - 286-3939.

After much deliberation, the Gallery Committee has decided to keep the Gallery open this winter on a trial basis. Alex McLeod believes he has the heating problem licked. Elene is busy organizing travel talks and film nights as well as work shops to keep the Guild active through the long winter days and nights.

General meetings are being re-established. The first general meeting will be January 13, 1988 at 7:30 p.m. and will be sponsored by the Choral Group. It will take place at the Rails' End Gallery. Everyone is warmly welcomed to attend.

A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all you folks out there from all of us in Hyland Crest. It was nice to have the Rev. & Mrs. Burgess for our Sunday night service, after his bout with the cold. Tuesday morning we had Rev. Moll of Minden United Church.

We are sad to report the death of another resident of Hyland Crest, Mr. Percy Brintnell. He will be greatly missed. Our deepest sympathy goes to his family and friends at this time.

Mrs. Ferrill had the misfortune to have a fall, but no broken bones. We hope she will soon be O.K. again.

The movies Monday night were "One is a Heifer", "The Riverman" and the "Rising Wild and Beautiful". A group of girls from the Minden United Church came and sang Christmas carols one night. We enjoyed it very much.

I had for visitors Nancy Lyle from Kitchener and Carol Francis from Orono.

More sad news, our Administrator has sent in his resignation.

No need to tell you just how we feel about that, but that's the way of the world, moving on.

The different staffs here put on a very good program for us one night last week (Christmas Concert). We enjoyed it very much.

The Curling Club ladies brought in our Thursday afternoon tea. It was good and a gentleman came with his guitar and sang the beautiful old songs.

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Dawson were guests of Miss Dora Dawson. Winnie Barnum had her sister and husband (Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cameron) from Peterborough to visit her. We will be back after the new year.

Au Revoir.

"This year, let us resolve to keep alive the spirit of Christmas, just as they used to keep a fragment of the Yule Log."

The Changing Years

People used to have houses in which to stay, but now they all want to be away. They travel around by 'plane or by car, it seems they all want to travel afar. They go to Florida or Timbuctoo, they always try to find something new. In olden days people stayed at home, they didn't have the urge to roam.. They all stayed at home and asked their friends in but now hospitality seems like a sin. People used to walk for several miles, but now visiting seems to have gone out of style. So I often think of the good old days when people seemed kinder in many ways. So let us all strive to be better friends and show each other more love before our lives end.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Percy Brintnell, Ethel Fader, Eric Hardman and Jack Huffman who passed away since last week.

It's almost journey's end:
We're almost there,
And, looking back the year has dealt me fair.
I had my worries,
But I'd laughter, too.
And happy days or sad, I saw them through.
What more can we expect?
What more should ask
Than strength to carry out life's daily task?

It is the time for Happy thought
As in the stores, gifts we bought.
A world with stress and strifes so full
With revolutions, violence; we had no lull.
If in our homes we have love
And peace; No quarrels as we move
Along. The sharp word we might say
Be careful, let nothing spoil your days.
With everything you do or try
I hope you have good holidays
With family, friends, or othes
And well then - here's the best for 1988 no bother.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

It's nice to have a puppy
When Christmas time is here;
They seem to have a special knack
For spreading Christmas cheer.
While often they are sleeping
Near the fireplace, warm and bright,
When guests arrive, they come alive
And greet each one in sight.
Each visitor is quite impressed
With the puppy's favorite trick
Of giving each and every one
An extra-friendly lick.
Yes, it's nice to have a puppy
When Christmas time is here,
And they've got so much love to give
It lasts throughout the year!

Did you know?

by Doreen Hawman

Did you know that the Canada Pension Plan provides for the payment of a disability pension to eligible Canada Pension contributors and for the payment of benefits to their dependent children?

To be eligible an applicant must be disabled according to the terms of the Canada Pension legislation. Must have made sufficient recent contributiuons in two of the last three years, or five of the last 10 years. The maximum disability pension in 1987 is $635.00.

The pension is payable from the fourth month after you are deemed to have become disabled and up to 12 months retroactive payments can be received.

A contributor cannot receive a disability pension and a retirement pension at the same time.

If the contributor is between 60 and 64, either pension could be payable, upon reaching the age of 65 the disability pension will automatically be converted to a retirement pension without application.

It is possible to receive both a survivors as well as a disability pension providing both spouses contributed to the plan. The maximum is $765.00.

A disabled contributor's child can receive a benefit if the child is under age 18, or 18 to 25 and in full-time attendance at school or university. A child may receive up to two benefits if both parents were Canada Pension contributors and are either deceased or disabled.

An application should be made as soon as the disability condition seriously affects the ability to earn.

For further information regarding the Canada Pension Plan contact the Haliburton County Information Centre, Maple Ave., Haliburton. Open daily 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 457-2733. Our office in Minden situated in the Municipal Building, Milne St., Minden is open every Tuesday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 286-4100.
